UNHEARD OF BARBARITY—ARSON AND DELIBERATE ATTEMPT TO BURN A MOTHER AND HER TWO CHILDREN.-One of the most deliberate and barberous outrages ever perpetrated in a civilized community was committed yesterday morning in the upper part of the city, by a wretch who claims to be of the human species. Of all the terrible crimes that were ever attempted in this city, this one is the most shocking, and one can scarcely think of it without shuddering.

On Sunday morning, a woman named Catherine Hanlin, wife of Edward, who lives in a little shanty on the north side of 15th street, was standing at her door, when a man named Andrew Klem, who occupies a shanty adjoining, threw several stones at her, which struck her side and bruised her considerably. She could only attribute his conduct to a trifling squabble they had a few days previous. Monday morning, about half past 7 o'clock, a short time after her husband had left the house to go to his work, Mrs. Hanlin, who was lying asleep in bed with her infant child and a boy named Lawrence, was awakened by a hammering at the door, and on looking up, heard the blows of an axe, and soon saw a portion of the door burst in and fire and smoke pour through the aperture. Dreadfully alarmed, she sprang from the bed, with the child in her arms, and rushed to the door, which was the only means of exit from the house, except the window. In her terror she saw Klem in front of the door, piling up burning straw, wood, and shavings against the door, and on attempting to go out, he took a long pole, which he held, and thrust it at her with both hands. She immediately felt a sharp instrument pierce her thigh. Seeing that Klem was perfectly sober, she became suddenly convinced that his intention was to burn her and her children to death; and in this awful situation, with the prospect of a terrible death before her, she frantically screamed murder, and, rushing to the window, endeavored to escape there Klem, however, perceived her intention, and jumping upon a barrel that was in front of the window, with a large piece of board in his hand, brandished it in such a manner that she dared not attempt to get out. The smoke by this time had filled the room so that she could scarcely breathe, and the child was screaming in agony and gasping as if in the last struggle. With the strong feeling of a mother for its offspring, and as a last hope o saving its life, she covered it up in a feather bed, and immediately after fell down insensible. Thus much of this tale of horror she relates herself. The residue of the frightful narrative is told by other

Mr. Archibald Brown, of 16th street, heard the alarm of fire about half past seven o'clock, and on looking towards the house of Hanlin, saw a man in front of it piling up straw and wood, which was in flames; he ran towards the spot, and there saw a manœuvre that he could not understand; and just before he reached the spot, the man went into the adjoining house, and a person, named Lee, came up, accompanied by others, and smashed in the window. The boy, Lawrence, sprang out, and gasped forth that his mother and her child were dead inside. Some of the party went to the back of the shanty, and with an axe burst it in, and brought out the inanimate bodies of the mother and child, who soon after breathed again. The other party burst into the adjoining house, and there captured Klem. In one corner of the room they found an instrument with which he must have stabbed Mrs. Hanlin. It consisted of a large file or rasp, about a foot long, which had been ground down to a point. This was stuck in a pole or stick, about four feet long, and must have been used as a pike, and made expressly for the purpose to which it was applied. Mrs. Hanlin and her child were conveyed to the City Hospital, and Klem to the Upper Police. He was perfectly sober. He is an Irishman, and is represented as the most stolid, brutal looking person ever seen there. Apparently he is about 40 years of age. The unfortunate woman is burned considerably in the face and right arm, and the stab in her thigh is of a serious character, and may produce death. In all human probability the child will die. The punishment for arson in the first degree. which consists of setting fire to an inhabited dwel-Jastice Taylor, of the Upper Police, took the examination of Mrs. Hanlin at the Hospital, and committed Klem to a cell at the Upper Police, to await examination.

Rodgers, have taken the "Troy House," the principal hotel in that city, and will open it in fine style on the lat of January next. Mr. Coleman is one of the brothers of that race celebrated in the annals of hotels, who have given evidence of their talents in the Astor House, and "National Hotel," which is now known and read of all men, from Dan to Beersheba. Mr. Rodgers was long one of the most popular Captains on the North River-on which we believe there never was and never can be a captain that is not every inch a gentleman. Troy certainly needed a reformation of its hotels, and now it will have it. The traveller will now be able to rest himself comfortably in Troy after the 1st of January.

BRIG PETERSBURG .- Captain Larkins of this brig is expected in town in a day or two. After his arrival we shall have both sides of the story relative to the Petersburg. It is a curious affair as it now stands, and the public ought, therefore, to wait till the Captain makes his statement.

NAVAL .- The United States ship Columbia, Capt. Geisinger, was at Gibraltar, November 18, and sailed the same day probably for home.

Rheumatism and Gout.—The Nerve and Bons Litiment and Indian Vegetable Elixir, for Rheumatism These two preparations have cured thousands of the very worst cases, in many cases in which every thing else has been used and failed, this has performed an entire cure, so that the user has been restored to his family, business and friends, perfectly free from any hing like par, sickness or debility; and we would refer the aceptical to the following gentlemen, who have been cured by their use: Robert G. Nelius, T. Broadway: A. B. Tyler, 7. Rector attrect; Mr. Pearall, at Tennany Hall: Mr. Giden Freeborn, 181 Front street; also, Mr. Jennings, proprietor of the City Hotel, who witnessed the remarkable effects of the remedy upon Mr. H. H. Hubbard, of Sandusky City, Chio, who, while doing business in this city, was taken suddenly with a most violent theumatic attack, and was citred in a few hours by this Liniment and Elixir. It may be had only at 21 Courtlands street, and is warranted to cure any case of rheumatism, or the price returned.

The Oil of Tannin.—A fine article for harness, carriage tops, boots, and leather in any form, should always be kept by every geatleman who wishes to have fine look ing harness. It is well known that the oils in common use for harness, after a certain length of time, unless the leather is repeavedly washed, form a seum upon she surface, becomes ranced and thus rots the leather. This difficulty will be entirely obviated if the Oil of Tannin is used. Its qualities are antiseptic

The leather receives a polish after its use without trouble. We only ask a trial of its efficacy. Sold at 21 Courtland street.

Asthma and Dyspepsia are positively cured in all cases by Longely's Western Indian Panacea, and the proprietors now offer to refund the money in all cases if a care is not effected. In some of the worst cases of Asthma, when the patient has not been able to rest for months a single dose has brought immediate railef, and given to the despating sufferer perfect rest and easy sleep. We have never known a single person to have used this medicine without being charmed with its effects. In cases of costiveness it soon restores the bowels to their wonted strength and activity, and as a general family cathastic it is unequalled. It may be had only at 21 Courtlands 25066.

Female Beauty—The Hair.—How frequently do the ravages of disease lay waste the delicate forms of the fair and beautiful: and though restored again to health, yet these flowing locas that once adorned their heads fall off, and never again return to their original beauty! It is inconceivable how any person—more especially a lady—can manifest so much neglect on this point, when a never failing remedy can be obtained in the genuine Oldridge's Balm of Columbia, from 2! Cortlands street, which will perfectly restore this only negle cred part of female ornament. What is a dollar to complete the crowning point of female beauty?

Relief for Deaf Persons—The numerous testimonies we are daily receiving of the efficacy of Dr. McNair's Accountic Oil in certing definess, renders it worthy of the notice of all who are thus afflicted. Mr. William Hayden, of Middletown, Count, reports the vobotiles of thus oil effectually cured him of deafness of several years' standing—he could escarcely hear any sounds distinctly, but the oil produced the desired effects. A son of Mr. Fellus, of Newburgh, was cared of deafness of some months, standing, foer suffering pau for a long time. A man in initialeithia was curred of deafness of fifteen years' standing by one bottle of this eil. Now these are facts which cannot be doubted. Sold at 21 Courtlandt street.—Price $1 per flaak.

Monday, Dec. 23-6 P. M.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable advices received from Europe by the last steamer, the stock market to-day was quite firm, and prices had an upward tendency. Erie Railroad, Canton Co., Farmers' Trust, Pennsylvania 5's, Indiana, U. S. Bank and Reading, closed firm at Saturday's prices. Norwich & Worcester fell off 1 per cent; Stonington 4; Morris Canal 1; while Mohawk advanced 2 per cent; Long Island 11; Ohio 6's, 4; Illinois 11. The transactions were not very large, but we cannot conceive how it is possible the market can be sustained. The accounts Monday, Dec 23-6 P. M. is possible the market can be sustained. The accounts from the other side, in relation to the cotton markets, were from the other side, in relation to the cotton markets, were of so unfavorable a nature as to forbid the slightest hope that those in anticipation will be more satisfactory. The immense supplies that have been produced in all parts of the world, and the moderate increase in the consumption, from year to year, must leave a surplus at the close of the season larger than ever before know. It is the knowledge of this that will influence prices all through the season. We do not yet know the extent of the new crop in this country. It may possibly reach three millions in this country. It may possibly reach three millions of bales. Accounts from the East Indies, received in England, report unusually large supplies in that section. The effect of a stock so much greater than the demand, on prices, must be ruinous, and the depressed state of the market at this early day in the season, will throw the losses upon the planters, if they are compelled to sell — A convention has already been held in Georgia, for the purpose of taking things connected with the state of the markets, and the prospect of a reduction in price, into consideration. The severest sufferers must be the planconsideration. The severest sufferers must be the planters of the old cotton growing States, such as North and South Carolina, and Georgia. The planters of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana are not exclusively confined to the cultivitian of cotton; having a stronger and more productive soil, they have other resources, and do not depend entirely upon the preceeds from their cotton. In Louisiana many plantations heretofore devoted to the raising of cotton, are now cultivated with cane. South Carolina particularly must feel the present condition of her great particularly must feel the present condition of her great staple more than any other State in the Union. The citizens of that State may attribute the existing state of the cotton markets to the influence of the tariff, but we think they will not long labor under that delusion.— There is too much cotton produced, and until the sup-nlice are reduced to your low prices were the sup-The passage of the Sub Treasury bill through the low-er house of Congress, cannot but be considered, at this moment, a very extraordinary movement, entirely uncalled for, unexpected, and premature. If it is intended to anticipate any movement of the Fresident elect, it will fall to the ground, or at any rate must rest where it is.—

The opinions of Mr. Polk, in relation to the safekeeping and disbursement of the public monies, are stated to agree very nearly with those of Mr Tyler, and that, on his sccession to office, an exchequer plan, somewhat similar to that recommended by Mr. Tyler, will be recommended. The large mejority of friends and followers of Mr.
Polk in the House, would permit us to believe NEW HOTEL IN TROY.-Messrs. Coleman & that this measure cannot be introduced at this time movement would induce us to think, were we not otherwise informed, that the President elect was in favor of Sub-Treasury. When the former Sub Treasury plan was repealed by Congress, and the repeal received the was repealed by Congress, and the repeal received the assent of President Tyler, the democratic party joined in one great cry against the set, and the ergans of that party abused him for so doing as much as the ergans of the whig party did for vetoing the bank bills. This shows that the Sub Treasury plan was a favorite with the party and we have no doubt, so far as the democratic represen-tatives are concerned, when they have a majority, it will receive their support, but cannot go beyond that power. The bill just passed cannot get through the Senate; it must rest under the table of that House and remain dormant until another session at least. There being two parts of the general government, the Senate and Executive, opposed to this measure, we see no chance of its becoming a law; but the movement in the House indicates some suspicions in relation to the recent operations in other words, the majority in the lower house, consider the public moneys in the present depositaries unsafe. Their fears are not without foundation. The employ-ment of individual houses as depositaries for such large smounts of public money, looks too much like favoritism. The government banks selected for the keeping of government funds are sufficiently dangerous, with all their corporate powers and cap'tal, but the selecwith all their corporate powers and cap'tal, but the selec-tion of individuals is an assumption of power on the part of the Secretary that calls for some action from Congress, and we have no doubt the movement in relation to the Sub-Treasury originated solely from the present position of the public deposits. We have a constantly accumu-lating surplus revenue, which is entrusted to the keeping of certain banks, that make what use of it they deem proper; it is also entrusted to individuals in the imme diate vicinity of the powers that he at the sect diate vicinity of the powers that be at the seat of government. These brokers are not only selected for depositaries, but are employed as the government stock-jobbers, whose business it is to purchase United States stock at the best price, and to depreciate-by influencing the money market through the deposits in large cities—the market price, to ensure favorable purchases. When the government comes into open competition with the stock jobbers of Wall street, in depressing the money market, we think it is full time for Congress to adopt measures to prevent a repetition. The Sub-Treasury would have that effect, but we have no idea of its being adopted. Were it to pass both Houses of Congress it is very probable a veto would destroy it. The President could not consistently give his consent for its enforcement. The bill just passed through the k wer House resembles, in many particulars the bill introduced last winter. Its restrictions are suffi-cient to preserve the government funds inviolable, without having any other effect on the currency of the country than to increase its value.

The bill just passed was introduced by Mr. Dromgoole. and is, in fact, the same bill introduced at the last session of Congress by the same gentleman from the Committee on Ways and Means. The principal features of that bill we annex, so that its operation and effect, were it to go into force, can be anticipated:-A Bill. TO PROVIDE FOR THE SAFE KEEPING, TRANSPER AND DISBURSEMENT OF THE FUBLIC REVENUE.

SECTION 1. Provides for the establishment of a treasury at Washington, under the immediate control of the treasurer.

at washingten, under treasurer.

S.E. 2. The United States mint in Philadelphia and the branch mint at New Orleans shall be places of deposite for the public moneys, and the treasurers of these mints shall have power to receive, transfer and disburse such moneys.

Src. 3. That the rooms prepared in the Custom Houses of Boston and New York for the receiver generals shall be places of deposit.

Src. 5. That the President shall nominate, and with the S.c. 5. That the Fresident shall nominate, and with the consent of the Senate, appoint receiver-generals of the public money, who shall hold office four years, one of whem shall be located in New York; one in Boston; one in Charleston, S. C., all of whom shall give bonds, with sureties, for the faithful di charge of their duties.

S.c. 6. All receivers of the public money, such as collectors, surveyers, land agents, postmasters, &c., are required to keep safely, without loaning or using, all the ected by them, till the same is ordered

Sac. 15 The Secretary of the Treasury shall, with as much promptitude as the convenience of the public business and the safety of the public funds will permit, withdraw the balances remaining with the present depositories, and confine the safe-keeping, transfer and disbursement of these moneys, to the depositories established by this act.

ment of these moneys, to the depositories established by this act.

Sec. 17. Any investment in any kind of merchan dise or property, or loan with or without interest, any portions of the public moneys entrusted to any officer for safekseping, disbursement or transfer, or for any other purpose, every such act shall be adj. dged to be an embezziement, which is declared to be felouy, and any officer being convicted thereof shall be sentenced to imprisonment not leas than six months, nor more than five years, and to a fine equal to the amount embezzled.

Sec. 19. Until the 30th of June, 1845, one third of the amounts becoming due to the United States, shall be collected in the legal currency of the United States. After the 30th of June, 1845 one other third shall be so collected. After the 30th June, 1846, all sums accruing, or becoming payable to the United States, shall be paid in gold and silver only.

Sec. 24. Any officer appointed under this act, who shall pay out in his disbursemen's anything but gold and silver, will be suspended from duty.

Sec. 24. Regulates the salary to be paid the different receiver generals.

These are all the most important sections in this bill.

It will be seen by the 19th section that the government dues must, after the 39th of June, 1846, be paid in gold and dues must, after the 30th of June, 1846, be paid in gold and silver. This time was set by the bill introduced last session, and it is probably the time in the new bill is extended. The bill also requires the removal of the public monies from the present depositories as soon as possible after it goes into effect. The only hope those opposed to the bill have, is the majority against it in the Senate, and the probable veto of the President. We think that one of these powers will prevent its going into operation. We shall soon know the action of the Senate upon it and its fate. Unt I the question is settled, the government banks in this and other cities, will be very cautious in their movements, and may call in their loans to an extent that will seriously restrict the money market, and cause much embarrassment. These banks would suffer some, should the Secretary demand the balances due him in gold and silver. It would create a panic among them that would shake their position very much. Until this and other important political questions are settled, the stock market must remain very much depressed, and we have very little hope of any in	nproveme	nt until Congress o	djourns

The Morning Chronicle in giving an account of the standing. The Morning Chronicle in giving an account of the standing. The Morning Chronicle in giving an account of the standing. The standing that providentially drifted on board after the gale had been specified to supply the place of a tiller, which had been wanted away, and canvas was spread over the holes that was caused by the carrying away of the stanncheous. She is indeed in a princible plight, and hundreds crowded to the Commercial wharf to witness her crippled condition. Great praise is due to the captain and crew for having encountered such a complication of mishaps with daustless energy, and for clinging to the wreck under circumstances so fearful and uncompromising. The cargo is reported to be in good condition; the hull being perfectly tight.

Bare Harry Kine, from New York to Halifax, experienced the same gale, had to lie to, for 24 hours, but received no damage.

BY THE SOUTHERN MAIL.

Washington. [Correspondence of the Herald.] WASHINGTON, Sunday, Dec. 22, 1844. Mr. J. G. BENNETT:-

The newly elected chaplain of the House, Rev. W. M. Dailey, of Indiana, of the Methodist church, preached to day in the Capitol, from the following sublime and excellent text :-

PSALMS LAKII.

16. There shall be an handful of corn in the earth on the top of the mountains; the fruit thereof shall shake like Ldbanon; and they of the city shall flourish like grass of the earth.

17. His name shall endure for ever: His name shall be continued as long as the sun; and men shall be blessed in him; all nations shall call him blessed.

18. Ble-sed be the Lord God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things;

19. And blessed be his glorious name forever: and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. Amen and Amen.

There was a full house, though the weather was unpropitious; and the sermon was characterized by that fire, and pathos, and vigor, and vitality, and of that democratic spirit which distinguishes the Methodist church. He is the very man to do good.
